Decentralization and Intrastate Struggles Kristin M. Bakke, 2015-06-04 There is no one size fits all decentralized fix to deeply divided and conflict ridden states One of the hotly debated policy prescriptions for states facing self determination demands is some form of decentralized governance including regional autonomy arrangements and federalism which grants minority groups a degree of self rule Yet the track record of existing decentralized states suggests that these have widely divergent capacity to contain conflicts within their borders Through in depth case studies of Chechnya Punjab and Quebec as well as a statistical cross country analysis this book argues that while policy fiscal approach and political decentralization can indeed be peace preserving at times the effects of these institutions are conditioned by traits of the societies they are meant to govern Decentralization may help preserve peace in one country or in one region but it may have just the opposite effect in a country or region with different ethnic and economic characteristics Borders and Conflict in South Asia Lucy P. Chester, 2013-11-12 Borders and Conflict in South Asia is the first full length study of the 1947 drawing of the Indo Pakistani boundary in Punjab Using the Radcliffe commission as a window onto the decolonisation and independence of India and Pakistan and examining the competing interests both internal and international that influenced the actions of the various major players it highlights British efforts to maintain a grip on India even as the decolonisation process spun out of control Drawing on extensive archival research in India Pakistan and Britain combined with innovative use of cartographic sources the book paints a vivid picture of both the partition process and the Radcliffe line's impact on Punjab This book will be vital reading for scholars and students of colonialism decolonisation partition and borderlands studies while providing anyone interested in South Asia's independence with a highly readable account of one of its most controversial episodes

The Punjab Charles River Editors, 2018-12-14 Includes pictures Includes contemporary accounts Includes online resources and a bibliography for further reading British India ultimately covered some 54 percent of the landmass and 77 percent of the population By the time the British began to contemplate a withdrawal from India 565 princely states were officially recognized in addition to thousands of zamindaris and jagirs which were in effect feudal estates The stature of each Princely State was defined by the number of guns fired in salute upon a ceremonial occasion honoring one or other of the princes These ranged from nine gun to twenty one gun salutes and in a great many cases no salute at all The Princely States were reasonably evenly spread between ancient Muslim and Hindu dynasties but bearing in mind the minority status of Muslims in India Muslims were disproportionately represented This tended to grant Muslims an equally disproportionate share of what power was devolved to local leaderships and it positioned powerful Muslim leaders to exert a similarly unequal influence on British policy It stands to reason therefore as India began the countdown to independence after World War II that the Indian Muslim leadership would begin to express anxiety over the prospect of universal suffrage and majority rule At less than 20 percent of the population Indian Muslims would inevitably find themselves overwhelmed by the Hindu majority and as the British prepared to divest themselves of India ancient enmities between Hindu and Muslim long papered over by the secular and remote government of Britain began once again to surface While the conflict between India and Pakistan is multi-faceted there has always been great division over the Punjab The word Punjab derives from the Persian words Punj meaning five and b meaning river combined into the Land of the Five Rivers These rivers are the five major tributaries of the River Indus the Jehlum the Chenab the Ravi the Beas and the Sutlej

They flow southwest off the southern slopes of the Himalayas meeting the Arabian Sea just south of the modern Pakistani port city of Karachi This is the valley of the Indus River the site of some of the oldest and most accomplished civilizations in the world The Punjab is defined by the floodplains of the five rivers that give the area its name and as a result it is one of the most fertile regions of South Asia However since the 1947 partition of India the Land of Five Rivers is something of a misnomer as the partition not only divided India but also the Punjab The eastern part of Punjab remained a province of India while the western section was ceded to the newly created Pakistan As a contiguous region the Punjab retains its essential character but now the Indian state of Punjab has only two rivers the Beas and the Sutlej and the Pakistani province has the Jhelum Chenab and Ravi The Punjab The History of the Punjabis and the Contested Region on the Border Between India and Pakistan looks at the region and the origins of the Punjabis as well as how it became one of the most contested spots in the world Along with pictures and a bibliography you will learn about the Punjab like never before District and states gazetteers of the undivided Punjab (prior to independence) Punjab (India), Shimla Then & Now Vipin Pubby, 1996 This Book Fulfills A Long Felt Need In Providing A Chronological Account Of The Events That Took Place In Shimla During The British Raj And After Independence
