advanced      Theories and Models of Communication Paul Copley, Peter J. Schulz, 2013-01-30 This unique volume offers an overview of the diversity in research on communication including perspectives from biology sociality economics norms and human development It includes general social science and humanities approaches to communication from systems theory to cultural theory as well as perspectives more specifically related to communication acts such as linguistics and cognition The volume also features chapters on the participants and various elements in communication processes on possible effects and on wider consequences of mediation with technical media The scope of the contributions is global and the volume is relevant to both the empirical and the philosophical traditions in human sciences Designed as a stand alone collection to engage undergraduates as well as postgraduates and academics this is also the first book in and an introduction to the De Gruyter Mouton multi volume Handbooks of Communication Science      Communication Models for the Study of Mass Communications Denis Mcquail, Sven Windahl, 2015-12-22 Presents the main existing models of the mass communications process which have been developed during the last thirty years providing brief descriptions of the most significant concepts and ideas in the study of mass communication using graphic and verbal models      Harold D. Lasswell: An Annotated Bibliography Rodney Muth, Mary M. Finley, Marcia F. Muth, 1990-07-31      田口 A. 田口, 2003      Propaganda Technique In World War I Harold D. Lasswell, 1971-04-15 A classic book on propaganda technique proposes a general theory of the strategy and tactics of propaganda This classic book on propaganda technique focuses on American British French and German experience in World War I The book sets forth a simple classification of various psychological materials used to produce certain specific results and proposes a general theory of strategy and tactics for the manipulation of these materials In an introduction coauthored by Jackson A Giddens written for this edition Harold Lasswell notes that this study was partially an exercise in the discovery of appropriate theory It raised the crucial questions of how to classify the content of propaganda for instance a distinction is made between value demands war aims war guilt and casting the enemy as evil personified and expectations the illusion of victory and how to summarize the procedures employed in organizing and carrying out propaganda operations Propaganda Technique in World War I deals primarily with problems of internal administration and lateral coordination rather than with the relationship between policymakers and propagandists However Jackson Giddens enumerates procedures in the book that illustrate an underlying assumption that decision makers were deeply involved in propaganda and influenced by considerations of public opinion He takes the study of propaganda further by elaborating on the nature and meaning of the category of war aims and its relation to the propagandist for this more than any other category of content is the catalyst of transnational political action Giddens s exploration of the development of a comprehensive theory of propaganda adds another dimension to Lasswell s study while confirming its value as outstanding groundwork for continuing research      How to Build Social Science Theories Pamela J. Politics: Who Gets What, When, How Harold D. Lasswell, 2018-12-05 Politics Who Gets What When How which was first published in 1936 is the classic analysis of power and manipulation by ruling elites and counter elites The themes that occur throughout this essay have become the guideposts for most modern research in techniques of propaganda and political organization It is unquestionably one of the most influential treatments of politics published in this century David B Truman Prof of Public Law and Government Columbia University This book is a landmark of modern political science Daniel Lerner Professor of Sociology M I T For over three decades the students of politics have had their intellectual horizons constantly broadened by Harold Lasswell There is probably no man in American political science who has brought to bear as many new approaches to the analysis of political behaviour as he has There is perhaps no better way to get the essence of Lasswell's thought than in his book Politics Who Gets What When How Seymour Martin Lipset Department of Sociology U C Berkeley

Public Communication Campaigns Ronald E. Rice, Charles K. Atkin, 1989-06 In this new fully revised and expanded Third Edition Rice and Katz provide readers with a comprehensive up to date look into the field of public communication campaigns Largely rewritten to reflect the latest theories and research this text continues in the tradition of ongoing improvement and expansion into new areas This Third Edition contains several new features First an expanded sampler section including more recent intriguing and controversial campaigns has been added Second more attention is given to specific practical implications and evaluation of campaigns using examples from both AIDS and anti drug campaigns Third the book's final section introduces a variety of recent campaign dimensions including community oriented campaigns entertainment education campaigns and Internet Web based campaigns This volume will be a valuable resource for both students and researchers in the fields of communication journalism public relations mass media advertising and public health programs

Littlejohn, Karen A. Foss, 2009-08-18 The Encyclopedia of Communication Theory provides students and researchers with a comprehensive two volume overview of contemporary communication theory Reference librarians report that students frequently approach them seeking a source that will provide them with a quick overview of a particular theory or theorist just enough to help them grasp the general concept or theory and its relation to the discipline as a whole Communication scholars and teachers also occasionally need a quick reference for theories Edited by the co authors of the best selling textbook on communication theory and drawing on the expertise of an advisory board of 10 international scholars and nearly 200 contributors from 10 countries this work finally provides such a resource More than 300 entries address topics related not only to paradigms traditions and schools but also metatheory methodology inquiry and applications and contexts Entries cover several orientations including psycho cognitive social interactional cybernetic and systems cultural critical feminist philosophical rhetorical semiotic linguistic and discursive and non Western Concepts relate to interpersonal communication groups and organizations and media and mass communication In sum this encyclopedia offers the student of communication a sense of the history development and current status of the discipline with an emphasis on the theories that comprise it

An Introduction to Communication Studies Sheila Steinberg, 2007 In this introductory textbook the author contextualises approaches and theories on communication studies by making use of local examples from the mass media as well as relevant political and social experiences The book is divided into two parts The first provides students with a strong foundation in communication while the second focuses on the areas of specialisation within communication studies Each chapter starts with the learning Outcomes and a short overview of the chapter Students can monitor their learning by using the summaries and test yourself questions at the end of every chapter Scenarios provide examples of how the theory can be applied in practice This makes for a learner friendly and accessible book which will prove invaluable to Students and professionals alike Beginner students majoring in Communication Studies as well as those studying towards various degrees or qualifications where communication is a prerequisite will find this book useful 50 Ways to Understand Communication Arthur Asa Berger, 2006 In 50 Ways to Understand Communication Arthur Asa Berger familiarizes readers with important concepts written by leading communication and cultural theorists such as Saussure L vi Strauss de Certeau McLuhan Postman and many others Organized in fifty short segments this concise guide covers a wide range of important ideas from psychoanalysis and semiology to humor otherness and nonverbal communication Berger s clear explanations surround this assortment of influential writing This engaging accessible book is essential for students of communication and anyone interested in how we communicate in a world of rapidly changing media Politics, Personality, and Social Science in the Twentieth Century Harold Dwight Lasswell, 1969-08-15 Harold Lasswell is one of America s most distinguished political scientists a man whose work has had enormous impact both in the United States and abroad upon not only his own field but also those of sociology psychology and psychiatry economics law anthropology and communications This collection of essays is the first full scale effort to deal with the voluminous writings of Lasswell and explore his at once charming and baffling personality which is perhaps inseparable from the inventiveness unconventionality and unusual scope of his work The authors of these essays many of whom are former students or collaborators view their subject from a variety of perspectives

What emerges is a full assessment of Lasswell's many faceted contribution to the social scholarship of his time. The History of Media and Communication Research David W. Park, Jefferson Pooley, 2008. Strictly speaking James Carey wrote there is no history of mass communication research. This volume is a long overdue response to Carey's comment about the field's ignorance of its own past. The collection includes essays of historiographical self scrutiny as well as new histories that trace the field's institutional evolution and cross pollination with other academic disciplines. The volume treats the remembered past of mass communication research as crucial terrain where boundaries are marked off and futures plotted. The collection intended for scholars and advanced graduate students is an essential compass for the field.
