Lasswell, 1971-04-15 A classic book on propaganda technique proposes a general theory of the strategy and tactics of propaganda This classic book on propaganda technique focuses on American British French and German experience in World War I The book sets forth a simple classification of various psychological materials used to produce certain specific results and proposes a general theory of strategy and tactics for the manipulation of these materials In an introduction coauthored by Jackson A Giddens written for this edition Harold Lasswell notes that this study was partially an exercise in the discovery of appropriate theory It raised the crucial questions of how to classify the content of propaganda for instance a distinction is made between value demands war aims war guilt and casting the enemy as evil personified and expectations the illusion of victory and how to summarize the procedures employed in organizing and carrying out propaganda operations Propaganda Technique in World War I deals primarily with problems of internal administration and lateral coordination rather than with the relationship between policymakers and propagandists However Jackson Giddens enumerates procedures in the book that illustrate an underlying assumption that decision makers were deeply involved in propaganda and influenced by considerations of public opinion He takes the study of propaganda further by elaborating on the nature and meaning of the category of war aims and its relation to the propagandist for this more than any other category of content is the catalyst of transnational political action Giddens s exploration of the development of a comprehensive theory of propaganda adds another dimension to Lasswell s study while confirming its value as outstanding groundwork for continuing research How to Build Social Science Theories Pamela J. Arthur Asa Berger,2006 In 50 Ways to Understand Communication Arthur Asa Berger familiarizes readers with important concepts written by leading communication and cultural theorists such as Saussure L vi Strauss de Certeau McLuhan Postman and many others Organized in fifty short segments this concise guide covers a wide range of important ideas from psychoanalysis and semiology to humor otherness and nonverbal communication Berger s clear explanations surround this assortment of influential writing This engaging accessible book is essential for students of communication and anyone interested in how we communicate in a world of rapidly changing media Politics, Personality, and Social Science in the Twentieth Century Harold Dwight Lasswell,1969-08-15 Harold Lasswell is one of America s most distinguished political scientists a man whose work has had enormous impact both in the United States and abroad upon not only his own field but also those of sociology psychology and psychiatry economics law anthropology and communications This collection of essays is the first full scale effort to deal with the voluminous writings of Lasswell and explore his at once charming and baffling personality which is perhaps inseparable from the inventiveness unconventionality and unusual scope of his work The authors of these essays many of whom are former students or collaborators view their subject from a variety of perspectives

What emerges is a full assessment of Lasswell's many faceted contribution to the social scholarship of his time. The History of Media and Communication Research David W. Park, Jefferson Pooley, 2008. Strictly speaking James Carey wrote there is no history of mass communication research. This volume is a long overdue response to Carey's comment about the field's ignorance of its own past. The collection includes essays of historiographical self scrutiny as well as new histories that trace the field's institutional evolution and cross pollination with other academic disciplines. The volume treats the remembered past of mass communication research as crucial terrain where boundaries are marked off and futures plotted. The collection intended for scholars and advanced graduate students is an essential compass for the field.
